On these dates, LAMINITIS claimed the lives of some of the greatest legends in the horse world.

Countless lesser known horses have succumbed to the disease, as well.

100 percent of public donations
go to fund laminitis research.

The Animal Health Foundation has been raising money for laminitis research since 1984.

Researchers such as Dr. Chris Pollitt at the University of Queensland are on the verge of pinpointing the cause, but the cure remains elusive.

Please join the growing international fight to end this disease by making a contribution to:
